Both parks offer unique geological formations and ecosystems that beckon adventurers, photographers, and nature lovers alike. Exploring these parks with a Lonely Planet perspective means appreciating not just the popular sights but also the cultural and natural stories that make them special.

Zion National Park: A Canyon Carved by Time

Zion National Park is famous for its towering sandstone cliffs, narrow slot canyons, and vibrant desert flora. The park's centerpiece, Zion Canyon, stretches for 15 miles with the Virgin River winding through its depths. Hiking enthusiasts flock here to experience trails like Angels Landing, The Narrows, and Observation Point.

One of the key reasons why travelers rely on Lonely Planet's guidance is their emphasis on balancing popular attractions with quieter spots. For example, while Angels Landing is a thrilling hike with jaw-dropping views, lesser-known trails such as the Emerald Pools or the Pa'rus Trail offer equally stunning scenery with fewer crowds.
